The Class of 2014

THE WOODWARD SCHOOL
1894

Dear Woodward Class of 2014,

I am honored to write this yearbook greeting to the Class of 2014, a group filled with intelligence, talent, and truly - endless potential. Please accept my warm congratulations as you conclude your education at Woodward. You are stepping into the future, and you have much to contribute to the world, as all who taught you at Woodward can attest. We know you are well prepared, and it will be a joy to follow your progress and achievements in college and beyond. But, even more important than what you may achieve, will be the women you are, among others. We hope that you will continue to pursue your passions and develop your abilities, remaining humble, responsible, service and community oriented, thoughtful, aspirational, and courageous!

I urge you to remember that you are always Woodward girls - part of a proud and unique history, and to carry the friendships, hopes, support, and values of your Alma Mater with you. The love and respect you give to yourself, your families and others in the years ahead will lead all else. Take good care of yourselves - each and every one of the Class of 2014. Woodward will always be strongly behind you.

Best wishes and Congratulations,

Carol Andrews
